The grand tradition of Classic Yachting

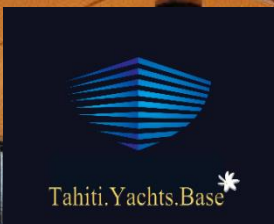

The story of the Astarte schooner links to the famous Greek ship-owner John S. Latsis and his famous guests, including Prince Charles of England, Princess Diana, President George Bush, the Saudi royal family and actor Marlon Brando.

Ranked among the top twelve richest men of all time by Forbes Magazine, John S. Latsis loved the sea and beautiful boats. In the early 1960s, he commissioned a classic yacht in exotic wood from the Psaros shipyard, a signature supplier in Greece several of whose nautical achievements are still plying the Aegean Sea and have been the pride of their owners for generations already. John S. Latsis took possession of the Alcione in 1964, a schooner with immaculate, elegant lines, spacious and pleasant to live in and exciting to sail. He nicknamed it «my beloved beauty» and enjoyed playing host on his boat to the elite of his day. The Alcione has now been renamed the Astarte and is dedicated to sea-lovers as a cruise yacht.

The new owners have retained the classic charm of old sailing vessels built from warm, noble wood while providing the most up-to-date equipment and facilities. In this way, shipboard guests can benefit from a maximum of comfort and safety.

On private cruises, they can truly enjoy the dolce vita and discover again the real «art of living at sea» in unbeatable luxury.

Below deck, the exotic wood Lounge is decorated in the style of a Cabinet of Curiosities with giant nautilus shells, sea-fans and a Collection of old nautical items. All passengers can congregate comfortably in one place here, sitting on the huge sofas, while children can sit at the table to play games and share snacks.

From the lounge, you can access the four cabins. Furnished with luxurious comfort, the rooms are air-conditioned and fully sound-proofed. They all have their own shower room and toilet so you have perfect privacy throughout the voyage. An assortment of 100% natural products from the Korres luxury range is available.

For greater comfort, the entire living area for guests is isolated from the crew area, located at the other end of the yacht.

Exteriors & Interiors

THE YACHT IS YOURS FOR THE TAKING.

EACH GUEST CAN ENJOY THEIR CRUISE AT THEIR OWN PACE WITH THEIR OWN PREFERENCES.

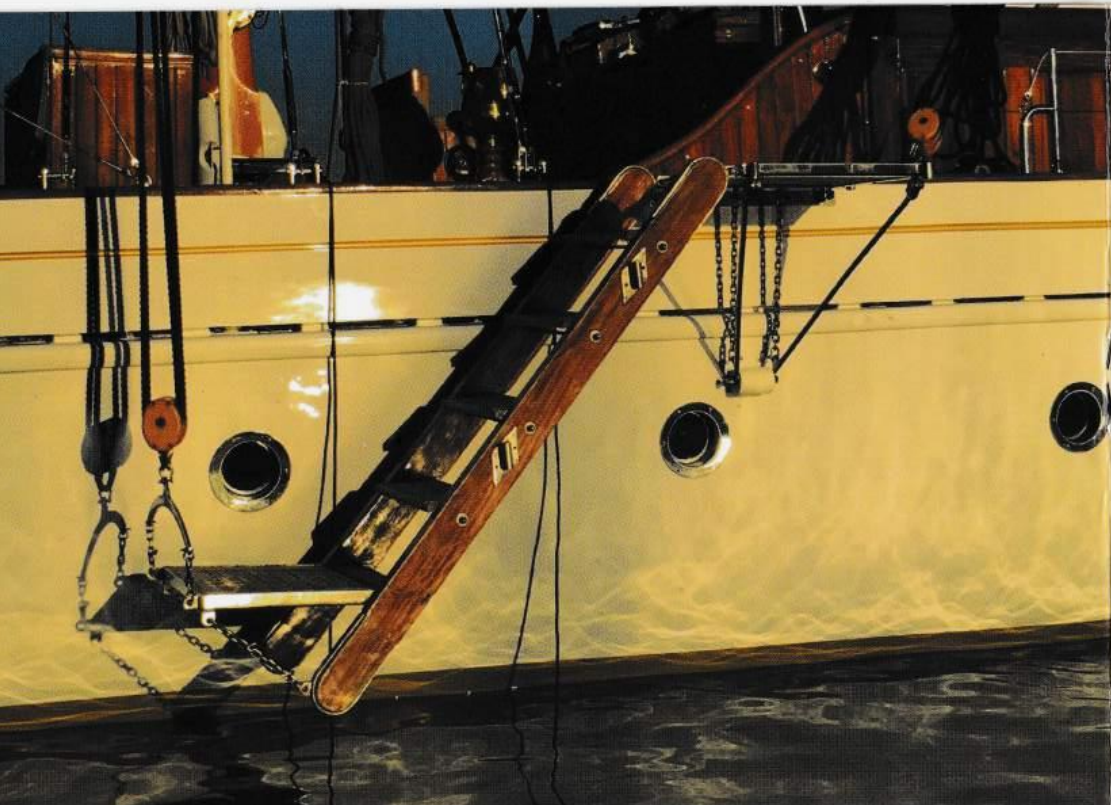

First, relaxation. In the stern, you'll find a cozy corner with couches and a hammock allowing you to enjoy long periods of personal rest and relaxation. If you want to sunbathe in private, the deckhouse amidships offers a comfortable alcove with a comfy mattress.

If you prefer to sunbathe alone, there's an agreeable spot on the central roof, offering a restful space with mattresses.

By the way, the foredeck makes a perfect sighting platform for watching dolphins leaping ahead of the bows or for spending a quiet moment away from the crowd.

On the stern deck, guests can gather around the large exotic-wood table and chairs for meals and snacks served up in antique tableware, crystal glassware and Christofle silverware. The tea and coffee services are 1930s art deco. There is also a wine cellar.

LUXURY AND SHEER PLEASURE

The Astarte's four-member crew is on call to make your cruise a truly exceptional experience. They will make you feel at home while acting as discretely as possible. You can choose your destination and place your orders even before you arrive on the ship.

The captain will take full care of you and above all of your and the ship's safety in all circumstances.

The Chef will regale your palate with his delicious dishes. As well as meeting any of your culinary requirements, he will take pleasure in serving up freshly-caught fish and lobster as befits a Mediterranean table.

For cigar aficionados, there is a cellar with a capacity of 50 cigars. And anyone who wants to stay connected can use the free Internet service via satellite.

The Astarte has an inflatable speedboat (a rigid-hull Zodiac) which can convey you straight to Greece's most beautiful deserted beaches.

And your midnight swims will remain treasured memories, thanks to underwater night lighting that transforms the sea around the ship into a genuine private pool.

Specifications

ASTARTE IS A VERY ROOMY 25-METER LONG AND 6 METER WIDE SCHOONER THAT CAN ACCOMMODATE UP TO NINE GUESTS.

Despite her size, she can easily reach the most beautiful coves and small ports of the Greek islands, due to a shallow draft of just 2.20 meters (7.2 feet). With her two masts and jib boom, sails mounted in the traditional way, bronze and wood pulleys, and classic hemp rigging, the Astarte looks absolutely stunning as she sails to windward.

She also has a powerful 400 HP engine that can deliver a 10-knot cruising speed consuming just 70 liters of fuel an hour. The engine is a very recent model (2009) with a three metric-ton gas tank; the ship is also fitted with a four metric-ton water reservoir, making it fully autonomous if needed.

The Astarte is naturally equipped with standard safety equipment and ultra-sophisticated navigation systems. A satellite antenna ensures connections to global communication networks, putting Internet and telephone services within reach of all passengers. The AIS (Automatic Identification System) can track the vessel's location in real-time via the Internet.
